BECCA LOU AND THE BARNYARD CREW MOVE TO Magical MOUNTAIN

 KENNY HESS

Becca Lou and her Barnyard crew loved living at farmer Kenny's place, but every day
there was more and more friends and they needed more and more space.

One day farmer Kenny said, “I've got some real big news,
there's a place called magical mountain where we're all going to move.”

A cartoon cow with black and white spots and a pink nose is jumping rope in a green field. The cow is holding red handles and the rope is in a loop above its head. In the background, there are large, stylized light blue trees and a yellow field. A small brown bird is flying in the sky. The text is positioned in the upper right area of the image.

Becca Lou said, "Is there a place where I can run and play? I'm getting bigger all the time and I need tons of space. I'm so scared I'll miss my home each and every day, I don't think I want to move if it's a smaller place."

Farmer Kenny said, "Don't you worry you'll have loads of room, you'll feel like magic mountain is bigger than the moon. I know it must seem scary cause it's a brand-new place to you, but I promise if you trust me, you'll soon be glad we moved."

Darlene duck said, "There better be a pond, cause I need my morning swim, if I don't do my laps each day how will I stay thin? And don't forget I need to stay wet, or my feet will dry out and crack If we get there and I'm not happy can we all just move back?"
