The other day, while on our way back to the farm from town, workers with flashing lights and bright orange stripes flagged us to slow down.

Little Lana Llama asked, “Why do we have to stop?”

Farmer Kenny said, “Cause that's the Puppy Power Paving crew giving the road a brand new top.”

First we saw a grader scraping up the stones, then pushing them off to the side...
Those can't be on the road!

Then we saw a huge dump truck filled right up to the brim, and this hard-working girl waving flags helping him back in.
